1. This memorandum is in response to the above referenced requirement requesting a detailed photo analysis, using comparative photographic coverage, of the Hai-K'ou Port Facilities, China.

25X1D 2. Hai-K'ou is located on the northern side of Hainan Island at 20°04'N/110°19'E. Photo Missions [REDACTED] were used to make the detailed analysis and comparative study of the port facilities. The only change noted was a bulkhead built into the water around one of the islands in the river (Annotation 2, enclosure CIA/PID/IB-P-493/64). This bulkhead appears to have been constructed for the purpose of holding back fill. The filling operation has been started and when completed this area will probably be a quay.

The port facilities consist of five marine railways, numerous warehouses and a quay that extends along most of the south bank of the port. The five marine railways each have a shed that the vessels are pulled into for repairs. The largest vessel than can be repaired in any shed can be no longer than 110 feet.

25X1D Five coastal freighters and one "swatow" class PF vessel were noted on Photo Mission [REDACTED] and four coastal freighters were observed on Photo Mission [REDACTED]. Please refer to the graphics for measurements of these vessels. 25X1D All other vessels on both missions were either junks or barges.
